About the Seminar:

A collective term that includes the sum of social networks and interactions, society is a system which brings people together, thereby creating a sense of belonging, shared identity and consciousness. It incorporates various aspects of human life, including economic system, political structures, social interactions, aestheticism, along with progression in epistemological patterns. A society is subject to various transformations, which in itself is a manifestation of any society. Various notable events in the progress of civilisation since Renaissance to our contemporary times have transformed our society and process of interpretation, perception and hermeneutics as a whole. Transformation which is a quintessential aspect of society often leads to improved condition of existence in socio-political, economic and cultural aspects, thereby leading to a shift in collective consciousness of people in society for good.

This seminar intends to look into various epoch making transitions in society that continuously transform the human civilisation to experience better condition of being. However, it should be mentioned that certain changes were also detrimental to the living conditions of the people. With this broad outlook, papers are invited on the following sub-themes :

- Renaissance Humanism and the consequent transformation.
- Print Revolution.
- Scientific Revolution and the age of enlightenment.
- Man's march towards Modernity
- Industrial Revolution/ Colonialism
- Imperialism and its impact on various societies.
- Rise of feminisms.
- War and society
- Transformation and the environment.
- Fossil fuels and ecology.
- Transformations of Political thought.
- Transitions in the process of Economy
- Woman and/in Political Intuitions
- Civil society and social transformation.
- Gender stereotypes and transition
- Migration and settlement.

- Gender mainstreaming.
- Gender inclusion and balanced participation in decision making.
- Transformation in the world of education and academics.
- Transitions in Philosophical Thoughts.
- Women & Entrepreneurship.
- Women and environment protection
- Any other theme related to the main topic.
